VOL. XV.....NO. 4373. NEW-YORK, WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 4, 1865. PRICE FOUR CENTS.

MRS. SOUTHWORTH'S NEW STORY—BRITOMARTE, THE MAN-HATER.—This story, the publication of which is commenced in this week's LEDGER, is unlike any other the distinguished author has ever written. The plot, characters and incidents are perfectly new. The story turns upon the fortunes of the four young beauties introduced in the first scene. It embraces the history of the last six years, including some of the most astonishing events of the late war. A gallant soldier of the Union, who rose from the ranks, is the hero of the tale. A notorious guerrilla chief is one of the most prominent characters. The heroine, BRITOMARTE, is a splendid and fascinating creation, notwithstanding her audacious repudiation of man and championship of woman—a heterodoxy which is so provoking at times as to awaken the wish that this beautiful man-hater may meet her match in some irresistible lady-killer. Well contrasted with this brilliant champion, all genius, courage and enthusiasm, is the minister's gentle child, the lovely and loving Erminie, whose whole world is in her affections. The piquant little witch Elfie, and the fair, cold belle Alberta, are spirited and original sketches. The mystery underlying the story will be likely to baffle the most expert among our readers.

The changes from the statement of Aug. 31 may be thus stated:

Increase 5-20s new to	$100,000,000

Decrease in requisitions	1,009,000
Other slight changes, net	474,952
Total	$29,689,981
Leaving net reduction	12,741,845

And this after appropriating at New-York, Philadelphia, Boston, &c., on the 25th of September about $12,500,000 in Gold to the prepayment of November Coupons on the United States 5-20s, of which only a small portion has yet been called for.

The reduction of Legal-Tender Notes on the present statement is $6,012,029. It is expected that before the close of the present month there should be a further curtailment of Legal-Tender Money (Interest-bearing Notes) of nearly or quite $50,000,000, through the advertised process of funding these notes into Gold-bearing Bonds. The proposition of the department, it is true, embraces One-year Certificates, but only the issue of 1864, already worth 99¼@99¾ and interest in the market, and fast running to maturity. Only a few millions fall due in November and December.

On the 1st December about $20,000,000 of the 5 ₰ cent. coupon Legal Tender of 1863, (the remnant of $150,000,000 originally issued,) fall due in course; the other 5 ₰ cents. about $12,964,280 fall due next Spring. Most of the latter will probably be funded. Then come the compound 6 ₰ cent. Legal Tender Notes, of which the outstanding issue is $217,012,141, and on which the process of funding will chiefly bear.

About the effect of this movement on the New-York Money Market, opinions differed widely yesterday afternoon and also to-day. The obligation of the New-York City Banks, (Nationals,) is to keep in Gold and Silver and other Legal Tender Money 25 ₰ cent. against their deposits and Circulation. The old Local Banks no doubt observe the same rule in proportion. The Clearing-house return of yesterday shows a

Deposit line of	$183,830,716
Circulation	10,645,697
Together	$194,476,413
Twenty-five ₰ cent on this would be	48,619,103

Whereas they actually hold:

In Gold and Silver	$13,643,182
Legal Tender Notes	57,665,674
Total, (equal to 37 ₰ cent.)	$71,308,856

In the event that this funding process should tighten the Money market, the line of Deposits in the Treasury, subject to only 10 days notice, and amounting at present to $115,885,749, chiefly at 6 ₰ cent. interest, might possibly be reduced, in which case the Government would have either to borrow temporarily in some other shape or else draw upon its reserve of $21,839,431 ordinary Greenbacks, now held to meet such an emergency.

The adverse effect thus far, on the Money Market, of the funding notice, is not apparent, nor is it probable, from the explanations which we have made above, of the nature of the movement, that anything more than decided 6@7 ₰ cent. rates will ensue. To-day the rates at call to the Stock Brokers continue, as before, at 5@6 ₰ cent., although the following considerable conversions of Interest-bearing Legal Tender at Bank, have already been notified, chiefly through the New-York Treasury Office:

Bank of America	$2,500,000	First National	$1,000,000
Commerce	1,000,000	Union	250,000
Ninth National	1,000,000	Nassau	150,000
Nat'l Currency	500,000
Total			$6,350,000

We believe that nearly all the large banks will find it to their interest to spare a portion of their present large Legal Tender reserve for Gold-bearing 6 ₰ cent. Bonds at the cheap rate of 108 ₰ cent. Nothing on the Stock Exchange is so thoroughly sound, and few Securities pay so large an interest free of taxation, State and municipal. Besides, it seems desirable that our National Banks especially should second the purpose of the Secretary of the Treasury to gradually reduce the volume of government paper authorized to be used as Legal Tender Currency. The public at large holding the Compound Legal Tender Notes will also find it to their advantage to exchange for Gold-bearing 6 ₰ cent. Bonds, receiving the full accrued interest on their Notes to the 1st of November.

The price of Gold and rates of Exchange are firmer to-day, partly on the view taken in the Gold Room as between the sum total in the United States Treasury Offices, and the sum belonging to the Government after providing the November interest, and partly also on the slow export movement of Cotton and other Domestic Produce, as compared with the immediate consumption of Foreign Goods. The Customs demand for Gold continues about half a million per day at this port, which is about double the daily disbursements on the November Gold Interest. Gold is 144¼@¾; Bills on London 109¼@109½ ₰ cent. The transactions for the Cunard steamer this week will be continued up to 1 o'clock to-morrow, (Wednesday.) We are requested to say that letters can be posted as late as 2 o'clock P. M. at the Foreign Letter Office, No. 29 William-street, corner of Exchange-place.

At the Stock Exchange United States 5-20s are steady at 103@103¼ ₰ cent. ex-dividend for the original issue, and 102 for the new. The Railway speculation not only recovered from the check of yesterday afternoon, but was decidedly buoyant at advancing prices. A large business was done at all the Boards. The 7-30 Currency Loans of the United States are partially weaker on the inducement offered to fund Legal Tenders into Goldbearing 6 ₰ cents, which as Gold now rates, is the preferable security.

At 4 o'clock the following quotations were made; the Railways excited and irregular, but in the main upward bound.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

GENERAL NEWS.

Gov. BROWNLOW, of Tennessee, sent his first Message to the General Assembly yesterday. He recommends amendments and additions to the franchise law, but says: "I am by no means an advocate of its repeal, nor do the loyal people of the State wish any sweeping change." The restoration of civil law has worked well, and prosperity is promised in every section. Guilty rebels should be treated with severity, in proportion to their offences; the mass of them with not less than ten years' disfranchisement, and the leaders with neither mercy nor forbearance. He says: "I am convinced that the white and colored people cannot live together, politically or socially, as equals." He advocates the setting apart of some portion of the national territory, best adapted for the purpose, for a nation of freedmen. The testimony of negroes is recommended to be taken in the courts on the same basis as that of white persons.

Brevet Brig.-Gen. BRISCOE, late Colonel of the One Hundred and Ninety-ninth Pennsylvania Regiment, who has been in command of the Lynchburgh military district, was arrested in Lynchburgh, on Friday, in the act of attempting to rob the government of $82,000. Gen. BRISCOE comes of a highly respectable Irish family, attached to the Episcopal Church. He was a favorite aid on the staff of the late Maj.-Gen. PHILIP KEARNEY, in the early years of the war, serving most creditably in this relation with the late acting Brig.-Gen. JAMES E. MALLON, killed in battle at Bristow Station, October, 1863.

The Vicksburgh News of Sept. 21 says: "The friends of Gen. SLOCUM held a meeting in the office of BROOKE & SMEDES, Vicksburgh, on the evening of the 15th, to testify their appreciation of his merit as an officer, and to express their regret for his departure from the city. Among the toasts drank was the following: 'Gen. SLOCUM and Gov. SHARKEY—May they both meet in the United States Senate.'" So Gen. SLOCUM's friends would seem to have already given up all hopes of his election as Governor.

According to a military order issued by Gen. WOODS, all the Episcopal Churches in Alabama are to be closed, on account of the refusal of Bishop WILMER to order the prayer for the President to be read. The prayer has been heretofore omitted on the ground that the authority of an ecclesiastical council was necessary to amend the prayer according to the established facts of the day.

Major HADDOCK, Twelfth Regiment Veteran Reserve Corps, and Acting Assistant Provost-Marshal Western Division of this State, has been found guilty of receiving bribes while in the discharge of his duties, as well as of other malfeasance, and has been sentenced to four years imprisonment or the payment of $10,000 fine.

On the evening of the 30th ult., a difficulty occurred at Selma between J. P. NIMMS, of Huntsville, Ala., late special Supervising Agent of the Treasury Department, and ANDREW HOSMAR, of St. Louis. NIMMS was shot dead. HOSMAR was arrested by the military, who will turn him over to the civil authorities.

The Alabama State Convention has adopted ordinances ordering the election of State officers on the first Monday in November, legalizing the marriages of negroes, authorizing the county commissioners to provide for indigent and helpless negroes, and directing judicial officers to continue as agents of the Freedmen's Bureau.

Col. WELLS, Superintendent of the Southern Indians, made an important treaty with the Osage tribe, at their council grounds, 100 miles from Die, on Friday last. The Osages cede about 1,000,000 acres, for which the government pays $300,000. About 2,000,000 of acres are also ceded from the north side of their reservation, to be in trust for the Indians.

Gen. CANBY, at New-Orleans, has seized the steamers Cherokee and Magnolia, Mobile packets, they having failed to comply with the principles of concession made in the joint order of the army and navy commanders.

The telegraph reports a large meeting of freedmen at Petersburgh, Va. The chief effort of the speakers was to disabuse the colored men of the idea that they were to enjoy an agrarian division of their former masters' property. Who gave them the idea?

Investigations are in progress in Chicago respecting an organized system of mail robbery that has come to light. Numerous arrests have been made, and the parties are under examination before the United States Commissioner.

The majority in Connecticut against extending the right of suffrage to the colored people is probably about 6,000. Only one county (Windham) has given a majority in favor of the proposition.

It is reported that T. W. CONWAY, Superintendent of the Freedmen's Bureau in Louisiana, has been superseded.

The Andrew Johnson, a new revenue cutter on Lake Erie, made her trial trip on Monday, and was eminently successful.

Hon. GEORGE H. ANDREWS has been nominated by the Republicans of the Twentieth District of New-York for State Senator.

Gen. SLOCUM has resigned, and his resignation has been accepted. So says the Syracuse Journal. The country has lost a great General, that the State may (possibly) gain a fair scribe.

Gov. SHARKEY, of Mississippi, has given the opinion that unpardoned legislators will not be able to take their seats. This will make Gen. HUMPHREYS, the gubernatorial candidate, ineligible.

The North Carolina Constitutional Convention met at Raleigh on Monday, and formally organized, but did no business.

Hon. T. J. LAMPKIN, of Mississippi, has withdrawn from the Congressional canvass, in the Fifth District.

The Washington correspondent of the Chicago Republican says that Mr. AIKEN, one of Mrs. SURRATT's counsel, is writing her life.

The Richmond papers say that the subpœna for Gen. LEE has been sent to Lexington.

LOCAL NEWS.

The investigation by Gov. FENTON into the charges preferred against the city officials commenced yesterday, at the City Hall. The testimony of Mr. AULD was taken, and the case adjourned to 10 A. M. to-day.

Coroner WILDEY took the ante-mortem deposition, yesterday, of WILLIAM WEIMPAHL, of No. 38 East Broadway, grocer, whose skull had been fractured by a blow with an ice-pitcher, at the hands of one FRANCISCO GONZALEZ.

At the Live Stock markets this week, there is a large supply of butchers' animals of all kinds. The return of cool weather, and the consequent increased consumption of meat, has thus far prevented a heavy decline. The quality of beef cattle is inferior to the supply of last week on an average, but both choice and poor grades are well represented. Quotations run about ½c. ₱ lb. higher than the average last week for extras, and as much below for common and ordinary bullocks. Milch cows and veal calves, although both in fair supply, command advanced prices. Sheep, mostly of ordinary to medium qualities, are very abundant, and in moderate request at last week's prices. Live hogs are a little more abundant than last week, but have advanced ½c. ₱ lb., live weight, in spite of increased receipts.

Nearly seven millions interest bearing Legal Tender Notes were notified for conversion into 5-20 Gold bearing Bonds by the banks of this city yesterday. The Money market continues to work easy. There was renewed speculation on the Stock Exchange in the Railways; Government stocks steady. Gold ¼ ₱ cent. higher, closing at 144¾ ₱ cent.

Produce and merchandise were in good request yesterday. Cotton, Wheat and Corn, dearer. Freights quiet.

The Connecticut Election.

The people of Connecticut have decided by about 5,000 majority, that they will not permit negroes to vote. They are to be excluded from suffrage, not because they lack intelligence or capacity, but solely and simply because they are black. That there is any reason for so broad and hostile a discrimination, scarcely any one pretends. Experience has proved that on the whole the negro, under the same circumstances, falls not at all below the white in thrift, in reliability, and in whatever makes a good and trustworthy citizen. Nor could the people of Connecticut have apprehended any danger of any kind from admitting this new class of voters to the polls; for the negro voters in that State could scarcely have exceeded 2,000 or 2,500.

The decision is purely due to prejudice—to an unreasonable, unjust and cruel prejudice—against the negro. And yet, we presume, very few persons were greatly surprised at the result; for all who know anything of human nature are aware that with the great mass of men, prejudice exerts quite as powerful a control as good judgment or a sense of justice. There are many things which a man's sense of right tells him he ought to do, but which, nevertheless, he will not do, for reasons quite conclusive with himself, but utterly without weight in the eyes of others. This is one of the failings of human nature, and until human nature is radically different from what it has ever been hitherto, it will not be without them. Almost every just and right-minded man will concede that on grounds of pure reason, other things being equal, a black man and a white man should hold exactly the same relations to society and the State, enjoy equal advantages, exercise the same powers, and be protected in the same rights. Some may be prepared and willing to act upon this conviction, and to admit the negro in all respects to precisely that equality. But there will always be a great many others who will not. "Blood is thicker than water," and differences of race, so broad and so strongly marked as those which separate whites and blacks, will make themselves permanently and decisively felt upon political and social relations.

But there is another influence which has contributed to this result in Connecticut. It is the natural reaction of the anti-slavery excitement which has culminated in war and in the abolition of slavery. The natural prejudice in the public mind against the negro was overborne by the enormities of the slave system. Men were shocked at the barbarities practiced, and terrified by the social and political crimes meditated in its interest. And under the influence of these feelings there was developed a strong sentiment of sympathy for the negro, which prompted to vast sacrifices and efforts on his behalf. But slavery is now abolished. The negro is now free, just as free, in the eye of the government and the law, as the white. He suffers still under some disabilities, personal, social and political; but none that can for a moment be compared with the gigantic wrong from which he has just been delivered at such a vast expense of the nation's life and treasure. Appeals on his behalf have thus lost half the force which slavery gave them. The nation has done so much for the negro and at such a cost, that it does not feel called upon just now to do much more.

Besides, there can be no doubt that the country is tired and disgusted with the extreme and extravagant style in which the claims of the negro have been pressed. By a very active and peremptory school of political and social reformers, the claims, interests, courage and character of the whites have been made wholly subordinate to those of the blacks. There must in the nature of things be a reaction to all this—and the Connecticut election indicates that it has begun. How far it will go, or what results it will accomplish, remains to be seen. It will probably, at all events, somewhat dampen the ardor of ambitious politicians who have supposed ultra devotion to the negro the only winning card, and it may possibly satisfy party leaders that it is not always safe rashly to insert new planks in a party platform.

NEW BLOOD FOR THE SOUTH.—It was always the policy of the fire-eating party in the South to repress immigration to the Southern States from free countries. They feared the effect of this population upon their tenure of power, and upon their sacred institution. Now, each State seems more anxious than the other to secure free immigration. They appreciate its effect upon the young States of the West, and comprehend that it is the source of greatness and wealth. Virginia and North Carolina have both taken action in the matter, and now the Governor of South Carolina has projected measures for the benefit of that State. It is proposed to appoint a State Commissioner, with power to ascertain and advertise all lands for sale, to open information offices, to distribute broadcast descriptive pamphlets, and to station emigration agents in the chief ports of Europe. The plan is an excellent one, and will in time prove effective. Many of the Western States have agents in Europe, who keep the people informed as to the advantages of the States they represent, and thus turn tens of thousands of excellent settlers to those States.

The South and Slavery—The Constitutional Amendment.

We have taken occasion more than once to express our admiration of the manly and courageous manner in which the people of the South accept the results of the recent war. We doubt if any parallel for it can be found in history. They have been terribly scourged and beaten in a war they themselves commenced. They have lost property, population, pride, hope—everything that great communities hold dear—but they have not lost their manliness, their practical wisdom nor their fortitude under calamity. They do not moan for pity like defeated Hungarians, nor conspire like conquered Frenchmen, nor swear like the beaten Irish. They accept their fate with self-reliant resignation and at once proceed, with firmness and sagacity, to make the best of their new condition. The war has taught them wisdom and they are not above profiting by its lessons.

In nothing is this temper more conspicuous than in their action concerning SLAVERY. It is impossible for us fully to realize how thoroughly Slavery had become interwoven into the whole texture of Southern society—how it molded Southern thought and sentiment, as well as controlled all Southern conduct in every department of activity; and it is difficult for us, therefore, to appreciate the radical nature of the change they have experienced in this respect. Four years ago every Southern State put every one of her citizens, every dollar of her property, every interest she had in the world, into a war to prevent the abolition of slavery: and now every Southern State is abolishing slavery by almost unanimous votes, in conventions of their people! Mississippi, the home of JEFF. DAVIS; Alabama, the home of YANCEY; South Carolina, the cradle of secession and the home of Slavery, have swept it from their soil at once and forever. It is true that in this they are only recognizing and ratifying an accomplished fact; but to recognize and accept that fact, momentous as it is and accomplished as it was, requires the highest elements that can enter into the composition of national character. It is true, they are consulting their own interest in doing so; but it is not every community which, on the heels of such a defeat as the South has sustained, has so clear a perception of its interest as the South displays. It is easy to say, as chronic malcontents are in the habit of saying, that in all this the South is insincere,—that it abolishes slavery grudgingly and only on compulsion, and that it would gladly restore it to-morrow, if it could. Something of this may be true,—but it is nothing to the purpose. We have nothing to do with the thoughts of the Southern people, except as they may guide and control their action; and the action of the South upon this subject is, in the main, all that could possibly be expected or required, as an indication of opinion or of purpose.

In one particular we hope to see additional action. We trust the Southern States will not only abolish slavery by their State Constitutions, but also ratify the amendment to the National Constitution, by which it is forever prohibited everywhere, within the limits or jurisdiction of the United States. We see no reason to doubt that this will be done by their Legislatures whenever they may assemble. The constitution provides that amendments shall be valid "when ratified by the Legislatures, or by conventions, in three-fourths of the several States, as the one or the other mode of ratification may be proposed by the Congress." It would have been quite competent, therefore, for the conventions just held to have ratified the amendment, and we do not know why it was not done. But practically it can make no difference, as either mode will be equally acceptable to Congress.

It seems to us, however, important that the amendment should be ratified by the Southern States, in one form or the other, as promptly as possible. It is important that, in a change of the fundamental law so vitally affecting their own interest, they should themselves take part, not because their participation is essential to its validity, but because it would greatly enhance the moral significance of the act and give it a weightier sanction in the judgment of the nation and the world. And we cannot help thinking, moreover, that such a participation in the national action concerning slavery, would silence a good deal of clamorous prejudice in Congress, and smooth the way for the admission of Senators and Representatives from the Southern States.

HOUSE-HUNTING AND HOUSE-HAUNTING.—Now that the absolute folly of attempting to rent a domicile is conceded on all hands, the question arises whether the shortest and easiest method of successful house-hunting is not by house-haunting. In other words, whether to get possession of your "neighbor's house," the which you are forbidden to "covet," you may not most readily accomplish your object by letting loose a troop of ghosts in its more remote apartments. To do this, requires no such ingenious devices as the Davenports got up for the amusement and enlightenment of their audiences. A much more simple apparatus will suffice, as witness the effect lately produced in Jersey City. You may begin by securing two members of the well-known Grimalkin family, attaching their posterior extremities to each other by a bit of hempen twine, obtained any day at your grocer's. Deposit them carefully in the cellar or basement of the desired (not "coveted") premises, and a very good ghostly demonstration will be made in the course of less than a minute. Or, second, you may attach to the corresponding extremity of "Fido" two or three tin kettles and pans, placing him and his new-found ornaments in the same humble apartments. Thereby will hang a tail immediately. Or, third, you may hoist a ladder against an outside wall, raise a garret window, introduce several armfuls of brush, tin-pans, old pots, brick-bats, pokers, &c., &c., the aforesaid heap to be as duly mingled and tossed about as doctor's medicine before gulping. The last experiment ought to be tried in a dark night, and as there is to be an eclipse this evening, it strikes us that a very edifying visit might be made in this manner from a-loft, while the moon is experiencing a sort of nightmare. But in any case make sure that in the locality reside a goodly sprinkling of spiritualists or Irish laborers; otherwise your costly preparations and elaborate execution may turn out to no purpose, excepting a collection of black and blue marks on your own cuticle.

The Free Press in the South.

A fact which ought to make us the more patient with the political and social evils left by slavery, is the absolute freedom of the press to discuss every public concern. Such a freedom exists, and is practically exercised, in every Southern State. It is not military authority that secures it, but public opinion. Nobody calls it in question. The assimilation to the North in this respect is universally recognized to be one of the natural and necessary results of the war. This in itself is of more real consequence than anything which has been done, or left undone, by the conventions.

Under the régime of slavery, the press was as closely chained as under any tyranny in Europe. The emission of an incendiary publication was by law a penitentiary offence; and every publication was deemed incendiary which in any wise exposed the evils or questioned the sanctity of slavery. The slave power, with its three thousand millions of what it called property at stake, subjected every pen, every tongue within its limits, to an absolute powerlessness of discussion against it, or against any of its adjuncts and incidentals. The wonder is that slavery did not grow, under this system, even more horrible and detestable than it actually was. There is nothing of which human selfishness is not capable, when, for any prolonged period, upheld by law, and exempted from all discussion or rebuke. This success in locking up all comment in the South upon the domestic institution, was the one thing which brought despondency to all patriots in the North who calmly contemplated the future. It is morally impossible for the mind of any people to be long kept under such an incubus without being paralyzed outright, or else monstrously perverted. The actual result was the most transcendent piece of infatuation to be found in modern history.

All this has passed. The slave power has fallen, and with it all tyranny over the Southern mind. The freedom of speech and of the press, which naturally belongs to the republican system of government, has begun to assert itself in all its rightful scope. Its power to rectify and regenerate will be equal to any demand, if we will but give it time. Free discussion insures that the South will henceforth be subject to the laws of progress. We ought to trust in large measure to these, and not insist, further than is absolutely necessary, upon forcing on the South our own sentiments and systems. We should make ample allowance for the crude notions that still prevail in many parts of the South concerning the just relations of the races. They are the necessary results of the institution now perished, that demented men's minds so completely, and will soon give way to the collision of free opinion.

This liberty of free discussion will, of itself, make the reëstablishment of slavery impossible; and it will also be an inseparable barrier to any modified system of servitude which many in the South fear will follow the restoration of the Southern States to their full civil power. The true interests of the South require absolute freedom of industry. This truth is demonstrated by the laws of human nature, the principles of political economy, the results of experience in all other parts of the civilized world. It is not possible that a truth capable of so many kinds of proof should not be accepted in every part of this practical land, if left to free discussion. There is no danger that free discussion, once firmly established as it now is throughout the South, will be subverted. It will maintain itself against every opposing influence. Slavery, to be sure, had the power to put it down. But slavery was an institution of most terrible strength. It had the almost incredible force to cope with the nation itself, in deadliest grapple, for four years. We shall never again see the like of any such power as that in this republic. The foothold which the freedom of the press has gained upon the grave of slavery, it will keep against all comers. Let the Northern people have faith in it, and trust largely to its future work. Such a trust would save us from much obtrusive and mischievous legislation in Washington, and would be justified in the end by all the results we can reasonably desire.

Treasury Revenues from the Southern States—Large Returns in Prospect.

The operations of the Internal Revenue Bureau are being gradually extended over the States of the South. Those who think that only extremely small revenue returns will be received from that section of country, owing to the universal destitution of the people, may have their opinions modified by two considerations—firstly, the large sums of money and of cotton that have been coming from the South during the last three months to pay for the enormous quantities of goods that have been furnished from the North, and chiefly from this city. Secondly, the vast accumulation in Washington of petitions for pardon from twenty-thousand dollar men.

These two circumstances show that there are still not a few men in the South who are well off, and that there still exists there a considerable quantity of ready money, or of that which is the equivalent of ready money.

The extraordinary activity of trade in all the commercial cities of the South also indicates that the business community generally will be quite as competent to meet the revenue calls upon them as their brethren in the North have been.

There is undoubtedly widespread destitution throughout the south; but then the operations of the Internal Revenue law bear principally upon those classes who are well to do and who have good incomes: and it appears by the facts above-noted that the law will have a large scope in these directions. We expect, therefore, that the government will now begin to enjoy the benefit of large revenue returns from a section of the country which heretofore has furnished nothing or little to the Treasury.

Our Dock System—A Reform Needed.

Notwithstanding the cool breezes of Autumn, we still are compelled to inhale the putrid smell so sickening and stifling, which still pervades the lower portion of the city and along the river edges. The evening airs waft these fumes into the very heart of the city, and noiselessly prey upon us and undermine our health. To the stagnating water around the docks we charge this almost intolerable nuisance. The combined filth of miles of sewers, the excrescences of hundreds of slaughter-houses and manufactories are brought down and deposited between the piers, and from this feculent pile rise up the deathly vapors which pervade our nightly inhalations.

During the warm weather past, the Health Officer's attention was called to this subject, and he made an elaborate survey and report upon it; but nothing has been done to abate the evil, and typhus fever, dysentery and kindred diseases have had full sway, and gathered in their victims by scores and hundreds. It is impossible, of course, to prevent the filth of the city being carried down to the river front, but it is possible for the river front to be put in such a condition as to ameliorate this state of affairs, if not to remove it entirely.

We charge this unhealthy and nauseating evil upon our present dock system, which necessarily, from its mode of construction, must naturally cause the deposits alluded to, and renders the tide powerless to sweep away at regular intervals the accumulations now festering and boiling beneath our noses. The discharges from the gas-houses should be conveyed by drain pipes far out into the tideway, for it is that gummy matter which comes from them which aids very largely in causing the adhesion of the filth to the spiling and bulkheads of our docks. It is within the power of the Common Council to force these monopolists to remove from the immediate water front their filthy stuff.

We never shall have a decent water front nor a healthy city until all the rickety, rotten, filth-accumulating wooden piers are removed, and give place to structures of iron. From the facility with which iron can be used and arranged, the water face of the city can be one regular smooth line, and the tides can have full sweep under all the piers, and carry out to sea the filthy matter of the city. Every dictate of humanity and pride for the well-being of the metropolis should lead the proper authorities to set to work at once to begin this much needed reform. It will pay, and will be a credit to us. The public health and good require it. And instead of expending so much money in half patching up these disgraceful things which line our shores, let us have the iron piers.

With good substantial piers, with the streets widened in front of them, fine warehouses on or near them, no city in the world can compare with ours. We have all the natural advantages, the capital, the inventive genius and the motive, yet we lack the men who will push this matter as its importance demands. Who will be the ones to lead off and make for themselves a name and be written of in history as a great public benefactor?

A FITFUL FANCY.—We learn from a party who has been interested in the projected scheme of emigration from the Southern States to Brazil that the whole project has been given up. After the close of the war, when the Southern people expected to be treated with great severity by the government, and when there was no prospect for their section but the prospect of ruin, the Brazilian movement was received with favor, and many planters expressed their purpose of seeking homes in South America. But the magnanimity of the government, and the brightening prospects of the South, have materially affected their views about emigration, and the fact that Brazil itself is engaged in a great war has changed their ideas of that country as a peaceful home. Of the few Southerners who may leave their native land in permanence, the majority will settle in Mexico.

FROM WASHINGTON.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.
WASHINGTON, Tuesday, Oct. 3.

THE WIRZ COMMISSION.

An erroneous impression prevails as to the effect of relieving Gen. BRAGG from further service on the Wirz Military Commission. It is generally supposed that this order of the War Department raises a grave legal question as to the right of the commission to proceed with the trial of WIRZ. The question, however, has long been well settled, and the withdrawal of one member or any number of members of a court until the number is reduced to but three, will not vitiate the proceedings, nor prevent the remaining three or more from making up their finding and judgment.

GEN. SLOCUM'S RESIGNATION.

Gen. SLOCUM'S resignation has been received and accepted by the President.

THE MEDICAL RECORDS.

Surgeon-General BARNES has sent a communication to the Secretary of War, setting forth the perilous condition of the records, &c., in the medical department, which is situated in a building in no wise fire proof, and by reason of its proximity to wooden buildings, liable at any moment to be burned up. What steps the Secretary of war will feel authorized to take in the matter is not yet indicated, as he holds the proposition under advisement. But surely if Mr. STANTON has the authority he will immediately direct these records to be placed in a fire-proof building. Already the books and papers most valuable in a scientific point of view, and to the families of deceased soldiers, have accumulated so that they occupy the entire story of a very large building. A proposition will be made in Congress immediately upon its organization, to construct fire-proof buildings for the State and War Departments, the latter to include suitable apartments for the Surgeon-General.

KENTUCKY AFFAIRS.

Another Kentucky delegation is coming to Washington to urge Gen. PALMER'S removal from the command of the Military Department of Kentucky. This delegation is headed by GARRET DAVIS, and his confreres are of the like ilk.

PUBLIC LANDS.

Commissioner EDMUNDS, of the General Land Office, to-day decided that a preëmptor is allowed to file his declaratory statement upon a tract of land previously entered under the Homestead Act, if his declaratory statement is accompanied by his affidavit that he had actually made his settlement prior to the date of the Homestead Act. He also decides that two or more parties cannot enter the same tract under the said act. The tract should be awarded to the first applicant. If two or more apply for the tract at the same time, it should be awarded to the party making the highest bid for the privilege of making the entry, and the sum thus bid should be credited to the United States in the returns as an excess, with a memorandum of the facts. A party can enter a tract upon which a preëmptor has filed his declaratory statement. If he files his affidavit that there is no preëmption settlement on the land, and makes his entry subject to the preëmption claim, in case such preëmption should be established after notice to and hearing of the parties concerned.

EXECUTIVE AND CABINET AFFAIRS.

No pardons were granted to-day by the President, and no visitors received. The usual Cabinet meeting was held, attended by all the Secretaries but Messrs. MCCULLOCH and HARLAN, who were represented by Assistant Secretary CHANDLER and Judge OTTO, respectively.

INTERNAL REVENUE.

The Internal Revenue receipts to-day were two million three hundred and forty-five thousand six hundred and thirty-five dollars and seventy-nine cents.

REVENUE DECISION.

The following ruling was this morning ordered by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue: That in determining the amount of taxable gross receipts for premiums and receipts, under section one hundred and five of the act of June 13, 1864, insurance companies are not allowed to deduct any amount paid them for reinsurance.

FREEDMEN'S AFFAIRS.

Gen. HOWARD will next inspect the condition of freedmen's affairs in North Carolina, and will leave for that purpose in about a week.

POSTAL SERVICE IN THE WEST.

Postmaster-General DENNISON has accepted the offers of F. A. UPSON for the following important service in Arkansas: From Little Rock to Richland, Arkadelphia, Batesville, Clinton, Fort Smith, Hot Springs, Pine Bluff, Kinderhook; Jacksonport to Batesville; Batesville to Pocahontas; Batesville to Smithville; Jacksonport to Pocahontas; Batesville to Evening Shade. The extent of each of these routes is such as to spread early and prompt mail facilities all over that State. Among the post-offices reopened to-day were Florence, Ala., and Tappahannock, Va.

APPOINTMENTS.

The President this morning made the following appointments: J. H. NORWOOD, Assessor of Internal Revenue for the First District of South Carolina; ROBERT ALLEN, Deputy Postmaster of Austin, in the Territory of Nevada; HENRY BACKUS, Deputy Postmaster at Selma, Ala.

Dispatches to the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Tuesday, Oct. 3.

DUKE GWIN ARRESTED.

Authentic information has been received here that His Grace Duke GWIN and Gov. CLARKE, late of Missouri, have been arrested and committed to Fort Jackson.

HUMBUG EXPOSED.

It seems that the counsel for Capt. WIRZ were under a wrong impression in stating that Gens. LEE, JOHNSTON and HOWELL COBB, and others notorious in the rebellion, had been subpœnaed as witnesses for the defence. Judge-Advocate CHIPMAN says that such is not the fact.

CONSUL AT PANAMA.

The President has appointed WILLIAM B. LITTLE, of Nevada, Consul at Panama in place of A. B. MCKEE, deceased.

NOTES.

On Monday evening Mr. and Mrs. THEODORE TILTON celebrated, at their residence in Brooklyn, their Tin Wedding, the tenth anniversary of their marriage. Nearly four hundred guests were present, among whom were Rev. Henry Ward Beecher, Rev. Drs. Storrs, Cuyler, Leavitt, Prince, Putnam, and Farley, Miss Phebe Cary, Hon. Moses F. Odell, Robt. Dale Owen, Ex-Mayor Hall, A. J. Spooner, Henry C. Bowen, and a fair representation of the editorial fraternity. The parlors were lavishly supplied with bouquets and baskets of choice flowers, presented by Messrs. CHITTENDEN, of Brooklyn, and HASKELL, of Llewellyn Park, N. J. The guests, as in duty bound, individually brought an offering of tin-ware, which, in the aggregate, seemed sufficient, when set out on the tables, to supply the wants of the happy couple in that peculiar line for life, and their children and grandchildren after them. Some of the gifts were quite elegant and beautiful, and there was such a variety of them that it almost appeared that the guests had consulted together to determine that no article should be duplicated. The evening was passed in a delightful manner, many happy hits being made by humorous persons in the company. An effusion by Miss PHEBE CARY was read by OLIVER JOHNSON, in which a witty play upon the word "tin" was introduced in easy verse, making much amusement. Letters were received from Dr. CHEEVER, Rev. SAMUEL J. MAY, EDNA DEAN PROCTOR, P. T. BARNUM, and others, regretting their inability to participate in the festivities, and expressive of an infinity of good wishes for the recipients.

Telegraphic dispatches still chronicle the progress of that obdurate sphinx, ULYSSES S. GRANT. Much against his own desires he has been haled through the Western States as one might hawk a rhinoceros for show, and temptations to babble have met him on every hand—yet he holds to the wise saying of the—somebody or other—"Speech is silver, Silence is golden;" and with a due appreciation of the heavy premium on gold he votes (by a silent nod of his head) for silence. Hence no speech; and the conniving politicians, who seldom see anything less than a Governor's chair, are puzzled (or, in the Western vernacular, flummuxed.) The stony-faced stoic is a nut they cannot crack; his "short, sharp and decisive" (vide McC.) answers are like his lines before Vicksburgh, simply impregnable; and the baffled assailants recoil in wordless amazement from his solemn serenity. The Lieutenant-General's career of triumph will be fitly closed by his triumph in the ordeal through which he is now passing. He is enduring a political simoon; if he keeps his mouth shut—as he bravely has done—all is well. Let him keep his nose in the sand until the hurricane passes. To have gone so far and said so little and meant so less, is distinction only equalled by his glory as a Captain. As for his speeches, "How sweetly did they float upon the wings of silence through the empty vaulted night."

A floating item states that a respectable colored man took passage in the cars of the Shore Line Railroad at Greenwich, Conn., for New-York, and while on his way, was three times refused a glass of water by the water-boy who passed through the train. Appealing to the conductor, he was informed that it was a rule of the railroad company that no water should be furnished to colored persons, and that there was "no use in talking about it." We have no doubt that the discomfiture of this audacious passenger was complete; but he ought to shake hands with his stomach, and give thanks that the stuff was denied to him. We have seen that same dirty boy, with that same suspiciously unclean watering-pot, and the same two (never more than two) nasty tumbers, reeling through the cars, squeaking in a saw-filing voice, "Eye-swatcher!" (Why did he "swat" her?) And we always looked upon the little Aquarius as a very annoying nuisance, and gave him coppers, and nickels, and even stamps, to get out—which he did when the contributions ceased. A jar of ice-water in the corner of the car cannot make a serious inroad in the dividends of any road, and we modestly suggest that such a jar might profitably take the place of the perambulating slop-tub of which even a colored man feels bound to complain. Avaunt, Aquarius!

It is complimentary to a man to say he is "a faithful dog," but "contemptible puppy," and "dirty whelp," are terms of quite different signification. Yet they are both applicable to a fellow who writes in New-York from Washington, as special correspondent of a——well, a journal, that a score or two of clerks have gone home to see their families, and vote "as others dictate," adds the toothless viper, meaning that the government requires its employés to vote in the government's favor. That was the rule in Democratic days, and the only reason why this braying——gentleman writes thus, is because he and his tribe know very well that the present dominant party never dictates to its servants the course of their suffrage. A large number of those now sucking at the governmental pap-spoon, have one hand behind them, with dagger bare, to smite the friend that feeds them; yet the world wags, they get their salaries, and assess snarl—as, for instance, the correspondent aforesaid. Bah!

The Sing Singers are trying to get up a couple of boats to run between that penal colony and the headquarters of civilization—New-York. May they do it. The railroad is good, but many will prefer, &c., and sometimes slow. Let us have the boats and the cool sail—cool enough, nowadays, we venture to guess—and let in Tarrytown, sacred to IRVING; and Dobb's Ferry, (who was DOBB?) where WASHINGTON crossed with HOWE at his heels; and Yonkers (poetical name;) and Hastings, where MCCOY was killed in a prize-fight—let them all join, even down to Spuyten Duyvil, and give us new, neat and commodious boats, running five times a day, and maybe we will try to live in Sing Sing.

Brig.-Gen. JAMES F. HALL, of this city, has been placed by Gov. FENTON on his staff as aid. Gen. HALL entered the army in 1861, at the breaking out of the war, and has seen much service. He was in command of the Engineers, and put up the works for the seige of Fort Pulaski; was all through the campaigns on the Coasts of South Carolina and Florida, and took part in the movement which resulted in the surrender of LEE's army. In his military career Gen. HALL has been distinguished for gallantry, ability, and zeal, and his appointment on the Staff of Gov. FENTON is a graceful acknowledgment of his services.

We notice, by a highly complimentary paragraph in Wilkes' Spirit of this week, that "Bayard" is once more to undertake the writing of the theatrical articles of that paper. The man who coolly goes into dramatic criticism in the present mixed condition of the business ought to be entitled to the benefits bestowed in old times upon those who "went down to the sea in ships;" he ought to have special prayers said for him in all the churches.

—Yesterday morning a delegation from the Union League Club, headed by Mr. GEO. W. BLUNT, waited upon Gov. FENTON, and tendered him an invitation to accept the hospitalities of the club this evening, which he accepted.

Amusements.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC.—The second performance of "Ione" last evening was, in all respects, an improvement on the first—if that can be said of singers who really distinguished themselves on Monday evening. The orchestra under Mr. MARETZEK's able direction not only seized all the delicate and all the striking ideas of the score, but went affectionately and encouragingly with the singers, helping them through in a way that MARETZEK can alone effect. The chorus, too, was in excellent trim. It would be difficult, indeed, to hear a better performance of PETRELLA's popular work.

To-night "Ernani" will be produced, for the début of the new baritone, Signor MARRA. The cast is otherwise strong.

MUSICAL.—The Cooper Union "Orpheon Free Choral Classes" for ladies and choir-boys has now been opened for the season, at the Orpheon Hall of that institution, up stairs. These classes are the most extensive of the kind in the country, over five hundred applicants having been accepted last season, and there is a prospect of a much larger number this year. Being entirely free, and meeting in the afternoon at 4 o'clock instead of at night, they afford peculiar advantages to the two departments into which they are divided. Ladies attend on Mondays and Thursdays, and boys on Tuesdays and Fridays.

We are desired particularly to state that the classes have now opened, in correction of a singular error of the advertisement of the Cooper Union that they would not open until later.

TRIAL OF CAPT. WIRZ.

Collision Between Court and Counsel—Progress of the Trial—Some Testimony, but Not Much—Appeal of Prisoner's Counsel for More Time—The Court Does Not Grant it.

WASHINGTON, Tuesday, Oct. 3.

The Wirz Military Commission reassembled to-day.

Joseph Thurmger, of the Eighteenth Veteran Reserve Corps, testified that from Dec. 21, 1861, to the 4th of March, 1862, he was a prisoner at Tuscaloosa, Ala.; there were five hundred prisoners there under charge of Capt. Wirz, who was at that time a sergeant.

Mr. Schade said that he was going to show by this witness that Capt. Wirz received at that place seven or eight hundred dollars in gold from the prisoners, the witness being one of them, and that they were permitted to draw money from time to time, and the balance was returned to them without any reduction whatever.

The Judge-Advocate supposed that the counsel proposed to prove good reputation, but such defence was an improper one. A man may be honest up to twenty-four hours of the time that he may meditate murder. Good character can be shown only by general reputation. The offences charged occurred at Andersonville, and no prior conduct could be admitted. He repeated that particular acts could not be offered to show good reputation. Capt. Wirz might have committed four kind acts, but also ninety-six cruel ones.

Mr. Schade said that the prisoner was charged with high crimes, and therefore it was necessary to show that the defendant was a good man four years ago, while in charge of a prison at Tuscaloosa.

The witness then, in reply to the question, "Are you acquainted with the character of Capt. Wirz for humanity and kindness?" said that he knew nothing about it, not having heard any particular remarks on the subject.

Mr. Schade said that when the prosecution closed and the defence was about to commence, the counsel for the prisoner asked for eight days, in order that they might make the requisite preparations; he now asked that the commission adjourn until to-morrow week. This was neccsary in order to do justice to the prisoner, as well as to themselves. With a view to save expense they had discharged several witnesses whose testimony would come under that character which had been ruled to be irrevalent. By an adjournment the government would not be the looser, for they would be able to finish the trial much sooner.

The Court—We understand you have witnesses in the city?

Mr. Schade—We have.

The Court—Then go on.

Mr. Schade—We will have to wait till the witnesses come.

Judge-Advocate Chipman—The court is not responsible for delay of witnesses. He knew from experience that preliminary examinations of witnesses could progress at the rate of twenty-five a day. Every adjournment of the Court had been of as much benefit to the defence as to the prosecution. Some of the witnesses for the defence had been here more than a month, and every power which the government possesses had been employed to enable the defendant to bring them hither. He took occasion to say certain parties mentioned in the newspapers, meaning Gens. Lee, Johnston and others had not been subpenaed; but he had been informed that application would be made to bring them into court. The prosecution had been more than usually liberal, including the furnishing to the counsel for the defence of a copy of the daily record. There being two gentlemen engaged as counsel for the prisoner, one of them could devote his time to the preliminary examination of their witnesses while the other could be in constant attendance in court. The record showed that every indulgence had been granted to the counsel for the prisoner, both within and outside of the bar.

Mr. Schade alluded to the fact that the record for the prosecution occupied three thousand five hundred and eighty pages, nearly two thousand nine hundred of which are devoted to the prosecution. It was, therefore, necessary that the defence should have time to preliminarily examine witnesses on the many points involved in so large a mass of testimony.

Several members of the commission expressed themselves to the effect that ample time had already been given.

The Court, after deliberating with closed doors, informed Mr. SCHADE that they understood seventeen witnesses for the defence were now in the city, exclusive of those who had been examined and discharged. Under these circumstances the Court were of the opinion the counsel must go on until the examination of these seventeen witnesses was exhausted. If not the Court would take the matter into their hands and assign the Judge-Advocate to the examination of these witnesses.

Mr. SCHADE remarked that he could not say anything until he consulted his colleague.

The Court—It is his duty to be here. He knows the hours of business; the court can't wait on him.

None of the witnesses being in attendance, excepting an Italian, who could not speak to be understood, they were sent after, the court declaring a recess of half hour to await their coming.

On the reassembling of the court, Mr. Baker said that when the defence commenced they had witnesses who had previously been examined. Their testimony was of such a character that they were able to go on thus far. The court yesterday could not fail to see the difficulties under which they labored. The most important witnesses had yet to be called for the defence. They could not put them upon the stand until they had time to go over and arrange their testimony. It could not be expected that the witnesses should be examined at random. This morning he suggested to his associate that he was trying to obtain an assistant, who should come into the court and assist him in the examination of witnesses, while he (Baker) would remain in his office and prepare for the testimony in the form of questions.

Maj.-Gen. Wallace said that in civil courts nothing was more common than to continue cases, but he did not think any cases could be found in which time was given to counsel to arrange the questions and answers of witnesses. He thought the decision of the court to-day was right.

Mr. Baker said that if it came to the point that he must go on without knowing to what the witnesses would testify he must give up the case. He had bestowed much labor upon it, and was still willing to do all in his power for his client.

After further conversation the room was cleared for deliberation, and when the doors were opened, at fifteen minutes of the usual hour of adjournment, Gen. Wallace said:

Mr. Baker, to facilitate your labors the court will transact no further business to-day, and will now adjourn until ten o'clock to-morrow morning.

The court accordingly adjourned.

About 2,000,000 of acres are also ceded from the north side of their reservation, to be sold in trust for the Indians.

All these lands are in Kansas, and the rights of settlers on these lands, who are heads of families, are protected by the treaty.

An immense meeting of freedmen was held here last night. The largest African church in the city was crowded to excess. Capt. The address was enthusiastically received. Addresses were also delivered by several colored speakers, all exhorting the freedmen to sobriety and industry, and counseling friendly feeling toward the whites. The meeting adjourned at a late hour.

Mr. Cobden on Mexico.

The following interesting letter, giving the views of the late RICHARD COBDEN on the French expedition to Mexico, is published in late London papers. It was written in May, 1864, more than a year ago, to a French gentleman in Switzerland:

MY DEAR ——: In your last letter you speak unfavorably of the prospects of the Northern party in America. You do not know that country. I traveled through the United States in 1835, and again in 1859, and have been a very careful student of all that has been passing there. I ought to know that country as well as anybody. Nothing, in my mind, is more certain in the future, than that the North will destroy slavery, ruin the slave-owners, and hold possession of the South. The mistake that people fall into in Europe, when they expect the success of the South, is that they lose sight of the inherent weakness of a slave-owning community, owing to the want of that mechanical development which constitutes the great power of modern society, as compared with former ages. Georgia, or Mississippi, or Alabama, are not modern communities in their organization and resources. They are a succession of plantations on which slaves do all the work, and containing within themselves all the different occupations, such as carpenters, smiths and coopers, and which form distinct trades in free civilized States. In fact, Georgia and Mississippi are in the same state as Western Europe was in the fourteenth century. Georgia and Mississippi, each nearly as large as England, contain each only a half million of inhabitants, being less populous than England was in the time of the Saxons. Those whites are surrounded by nearly an equal number of slaves, who are ready to run away from their masters whenever Federal armies approach. Thus, added to the want of mechanical resources and the absence of accumulated wealth and population in towns, the South sees the negro, on whom it depends for the rude cultivation of the soil, deserting its plantations to enlist in the ranks of the invading army. It is true that the Southern whites fight well. They are a proud, haughty community, who have a contempt for Northern industry and for Northern men, just as all aristocrats have despised working men. They are more reckless of life, more accustomed to the use of arms, and have that Southern dash and fire which make them almost irresistible for a time. But nothing can compensate for the disadvantages under which they labor. Nothing can make a community, living like the feudal community of the thirteenth century, a match for the New-England population of the nineteenth century. The North will ruin the South, not by any one or half-dozen decisive battles, but by its persistence and by the irresistible weight of its resources. And I should not be surprised to see the South collapse very suddenly; for, having no social forces at its back, when once it is fairly beaten in the field it has nothing to fall back upon. If the North should realize my expectations, it will present itself before the Old World in a new and most formidable attitude, for it will have proved itself as great in war as in peace. It is the only country in the world which, while it is a first-class naval power, (for its mercantile tonnage is equal to our own,) can keep 700,000 men in the field. Has your Emperor thought of all this in connection with his Mexican expedition? I confess I saw with amazement, as well as regret, the course which he took in sending an army to interfere in the internal affairs of that wretched country. It reminded me, in its impolicy, of the expedition of the first NAPOLEON from Bayonne into Spain. No human being can restore Mexico to order, or confer on it the blessings of civilized progress. It requires the hand of God himself to effect such a change in that degraded population of half-castes. But does the Emperor know how deeply the public sentiment of the United States is outraged and humiliated by this attempt of a foreign power to set up an empire at their door without consultation with them? How would you Frenchmen like to see the Yankees sending an army to establish a republic in Belgium without consulting you? Seeing the American newspapers regularly, I gather from them that the resentment against you for the Mexican intervention is ready to burst forth the moment the rebellion is in a sure way of defeat. The Americans will have some serious controversies with England, but they are of a nature to keep and employ the ingenuity of diplomatists. But I look for a peremptory demand from Washington for explanations from the Tuileries, which will lead to war or humiliation. I sincerely wish the Emperor would withdraw every French soldier immediately.

IMPORTANT TO THE PUBLIC!

From the New-York Express.

So many able and earnest men are devoting themselves to medical investigation, that it would be strange if new discoveries were not made. Among the most brilliant of these—we may indeed say the most brilliant of all—is that of Dr. VON EISENBERG, in regard to the Etherealization of Medicines; we may properly call it the "Spiritualization," since the Latin Spiritus, whence comes our word "Spiritual," signifies primarily, simply "the air."

Many of the most important and vital organs of the human frame cannot be reached by medicines in a solid or even in a liquid form. Thus the lungs are shut up in a bony chest to which access can be had only through the wind-pipe, the opening of which is closed by a valve, called the "epiglottis," so sensitive and so delicately constructed, that it will not allow the passage, except by main force, of the most minute crumb, or the smallest drop of liquid. Every person who has "swallowed the wrong way" the smallest substance, whether of liquid or solid, knows the feeling of strangulation thereby occasioned. A man cannot, if he would, voluntarily swallow any liquid or solid into the lungs, or the passage leading to them. Herein lies the true reason why Consumption has been so incurable.

As to the entire apparatus, we have no hesitation in saying that we regard it as a wonderful invention—one that, were it not so costly, we have little doubt would be adopted by every hospital and medical college in the country. We are satisfied it would well repay, even if he had to journey all the way from Europe, the scientific man to see and examine it. It is a marvel of mechanical complexity, and yet, when its multiform uses are considered, of extreme simplicity and great beauty. That it will in every respect fulfill the expectations of the inventor, we have every reason to believe. It has been constructed with an accurate knowledge of its ultimate uses. One so experienced in the specialities for which it is particularly intended as is Dr. Von Eisenberg, and for which he has long felt the necessity in his practice, could make no failure. With it he is enabled to surmount obstacles that were hitherto deemed all but impossible to control. He can now approach with certainty and diagnose thoroughly every disease that, in the course of his extended practice, he aims to master. To those, therefore, who are in any way afflicted with loss of sight or hearing, with catarrh, bronchitis, [chest or lung diseases, we earnestly suggest a visit to the consulting apartments of Dr. VON EISENBERG. There he will be speedily made to know the possibility of a cure in even complicated cases. We hereto observe that the apparatus is intended also to bring the etherealized medicines into direct action upon the nerves. The nervous system is the source of many diseases. All physicians admit this, and all profess at least to be able to apply a remedy. The Allopathic, Homeopathic and Hydropathic, by prescribing opiates, anodynes, &c., may, and do, alleviate the pain arising from impaired or diseased nerves; but this does not restore the nerve, it is only temporary relief—a relief, too, to some one nerve at the expense of the entire system. The Æsthetico-Neuralgicon of Dr. Von Eisenberg not merely allays the irritation, but restores the nerve to its normal condition. The Doctor's theory is, that each nerve has a specific office, and has its own peculiar susceptibility. Thus, for example, the nerve of vision is insensible to touch; and, on the other hand, the nerve of touch is insensible to light, and so on through the whole system.

From the Journal of Commerce.

We think it is but just to Dr. Von Eisenberg to call public attention to him. There are hundreds in the community suffering from catarrh, if not actually praying for death, who are ready to accept of anything that promises to relieve them from their distresses. To such we would say, trifle not with inexperienced men, but consult, without unnecessary delay, Dr. Von Eisenberg, who, at least, has the honesty to assure his patients whether it is in his power to make them whole or not.

HEARING RESTORED BY A SINGLE APPLICATION OF THE ÆSTHETICO-NEURALGICON. READ! READ!

NEW-YORK, May 4, 1865.

I have been induced, by the great number of certificates continually published in favor of Dr. Von Eisenberg's skill, to apply to him for advice concerning my deafness of many years' standing. I placed myself under his care, and to my utmost delight he made me hear perfectly well by a single painless application of Dr. Von Eisenberg's "Æsthetico-Neuralgicon." I have great pleasure in being able to state that his skill in restoring hearing surpasses anything I ever saw or heard of. His attention to the patient is highly commendable.

I have been suffering for a long time from a severe Catarrh, with a continual dullness in my head, a tightness across my chest, and a weight over my eyes, which were weak, watery, and very painful. My nostrils were continually obstructed with a pouring of fluid. I had frequent sneezing, hoarseness of my voice, generally attended with spitting of blood. I have been treated by many eminent physicians without success. Recently the

PROPOSALS FOR FUNDING CERTIFICATES OF INDEBTEDNESS, COMPOUND INTEREST NOTES AND TREASURY NOTES.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT,
WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 29, 1865.

By virtue of the authority contained in the first section of an act of Congress entitled "An Act to provide ways and means to support the Government," approved March 3, 1865, which provides, among other things, that any Treasury Notes, or other obligations bearing interest issued under any act of Congress, may, at the discretion of the Secretary of the Treasury, and with the consent of the holder, be converted into any description of bonds authorized by said act, notice is hereby given to the holders of Certificates of Indebtedness which mature before the 1st day of January next, of Compound Interest Notes, and of one and two year Treasury Notes, of the readiness of this department to give in exchange for them, to the extent of fifty millions of dollars, six per cent. Five-Twenty Year Bonds at three per cent. premium; that is to say, one hundred dollars of bonds for each one hundred and three dollars in certificates and notes; provided the conversion is made prior to the 1st day of November next.

The bonds issued in exchange for such certificates and notes will bear an interest of six per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually in coin, upon the first days of May and November, and will be redeemable at the pleasure of the government after five years, and payable in twenty years from the first day of November, 1865.

The coupon and registered bonds issued under this proposal will be of the denominations of one hundred, five hundred and one thousand dollars. Registered bonds of five thousand and ten thousand dollars will be issued if desired.

Holders of certificates, compound interest or Treasury notes, who desire to make such conversions, will deliver them to the Treasurer, the Assistant Treasurers or the designated depositaries of the United States, or to any national depositary bank which may consent to transact the business without charge.

Interest will be allowed on certificates of indebtedness, and one and two-year Treasury notes matured or maturing prior to the first of November, 1865, up to the date of maturity, and when maturing after the first of November, interest will be allowed to that day.

Upon the compound interest notes the interest will be computed to November 1, 1865, upon the amount of principal and interest compounded on the back of said notes, from the period next prior to that date.

The principal and interest of such Treasury Notes and obligations will be considered together as an offer for conversion, but when, after deducting the principal of the Bonds, and three per cent. premium, there remains a fractional part of one hundred dollars, this fractional part will be paid to the depositor.

The Secretary reserves to himself the right of withdrawing this proposal at any time prior to said first day of November, provided fifty millions of dollars shall, prior to that date, be offered for conversion as aforesaid.

Circulars of instructions will be transmitted to the various officers authorized to receive certificates and notes, to which attention is invited.

order they voted? A.—No, Sir, my impression is they simply answered aye or no as the case was. (Mr. Auld then read the minutes from the record.)

Mr. Auld—Mr. DEVLIN moved that the contract be awarded to JOHN MCQUADE at $500,000, on condition that he would submit to the suggestion of the Commission; all the commission voted in the negative except Mr. Devlin; the resolution was lost; the Comptroller moved it be awarded to BROWN, DEVOE & KNAPP or $498,500, with the condition that they accept the Commission's modifications; the vote on this resolution was taken as before; I think there was an order of succession, but no name swere called; Mr. DEVLIN voted first, the Comptroller and City Inspector then voted, after conversation, about the merits of the resolution; Mr. DEVLIN and the Comptroller voted aye; I don't know how Mr. BOOLE voted the first time, but he stated before the Recorder moved to make the vote unanimous, that he would like to change his vote from nay to aye; I don't know whether the Mayor or the Recorder voted first, but I think the Recorder moved that the motion be made unanimous, and I then asked the Mayor if he voted in the affirmative; he stated that he did, or had; the motion was then unanimously adopted, giving the contract to BROWN, DEVOE & KNAPP; the Comptroller spoke as it regards the personal qualities of Mr. BROWN as a street contractor, saying he had done his work with entire satisfaction to him and to the Croton Aqueduct Board; the City Inspector spoke of DEVOE in commendation as having been a Broadway contractor, and the counsel for the corporation spoke of Mr. KNAPP as Street Commissioner, and as a man of means who would be likely to do well by the city; as it regards the amount it was stated by Mr. BOOLE that it was not too much, they would want all they got, and that they wouldn't be able to carry it on successfully; in regard to the other bidders, they were spoken of as being worthy men and good contractors; one lived in Brooklyn, and that was an objection; the City Inspector made that objection, but it was not strongly urged; Mr. DEVLIN spoke of MCQUADE; it was said that another was the introducer of the Belgian pavement, and a fair man; the whole conversation was informal, a mere interchange of ideas in regard to the bidders; it was said that Mr. HELMBOLD lived in Philadelphia, that MCQUADE was a contractor and a fair man; I remember nothing else; the only other thing was to pay me $100.

Mr. Brady—Well, that is the only thing not charged as corruption.

Mr. Auld—They then adjourned to 6th of June, at 10 o'clock; present the Mayor, Comptroller and City Inspector; the minutes of the preceding meetings were referred to the counsel for the Corporation; Mr. BROWN and the reporters were present and the Mayor announced that the contract had been awarded to BROWN, DEVOE and KNAPP; they then adjourned to 12th of June, at which time the Comptroller, City Inspector and counsel of the Corporation were present; the contractors and their sureties came in after the meeting; Mr. KNAPP was present and an amendment to the tenth clause was adopted on a note from the Recorder—the words "at the time specified" were stricken out.

Mr. Auld read the clerk's note to BROWN, DEVOE and KNAPP, requesting their appearance before the commission with their sureties.

He then read the letter of the clerk to the same parties, announcing that the contract to them on their terms with the conditions as above given; I was directed by the Mayor to write the note; a proviso was offered by Mr. KNAPP which modified the contract so that the contractors should not be hastily dispossessed of their contract; the Board directed that the work be executed by the contractors and the sureties prepare their bonds; this was done in the presence of Mr. MORTON and myself; they did not meet again until the 17th, when they finally executed the contract.

Mr. Auld presented the contract, which was put in evidence and marked X.

CROSS-EXAMINATION.

Mr. Auld—The members of the commission talked about it; Mr. DEVELIN read it and said he had read a very excellent article in the Post; he said it met his approval, particularly that portion of it in which allusion is made to the absolute power of the City Inspector, and that the large establishments should throw their refuse and ashes on the contractors; the other members thought the specifications should be amended; it was resolved that they should be amended unanimously; I have not compared the original with the amended specifications; Mr. WHITING represented the Citizens' Association when he was with the Mayor, and once or twice before the commission he acted for the Comport Company; he was surely in their board; he attended one or two meetings; I don't remember that he made any remark about the Post article; he was not there when the door was opened; the press was not represented at all the meetings; likely were there when the suggestions were offered, but I don't remember whether anything was published; it may have been the Recorder who spoke of the propriety of suggestions from the people; when the bids were returned unopened, the Mayor's office was well filled; Mr. DEVELIN announced the reasons why the bids were not opened and the Mayor opened the box and returned the envelopes; no objection was made by any one; in case of a great fall of snow it would be impossible to clean the streets, and the contractors would be in a very embarrassing position; the papers which the Mayor produced with suggestions were handed over to Mr. DEVELIN if they were deemed of sufficient importance; they were either taken by the counsel or sent by me to him; I sent them by a messenger, but I can't say who; Mr. FISHER'S did not go down, Mr. WHITING'S may have made a minute, and the other was of no consequence; of what became of the Comptroller's paper I recollect nothing, but I know Mr. DEVELIN had it; the suggestions were numbered and written on the above specifications; the Mayor neither suggested nor opposed anything; he thought it would be better to have no specifications, but simply for the contractors to say what they would do and what they would charge; there was no notice taken of it; he proposed nothing that I remember; the suggestions of the Comptroller filled two foolscap sheets; I don't remember them; they were discussed very fully, the Recorder and Mr. DEVELIN taking the lead; the City Inspector gave his experience; the Comptroller spoke of the street manure before the papers were taken by Mr. DEVELIN; the amended papers were read over by Mr. DEVELIN in presence of the other commissioners; slight changes were suggested and made even down to the execution of the contract; one or two changes were suggested and made when the amended specifications were presented; they were unanimously adopted, and the form likewise; the specifications remained virtually unchanged; no one objected to KNAPP'S proposition—it was just and fair; the Comptroller objected to HELMBOLD'S bid, no one disented; I don't know that HELMBOLD was told of it; the Secretary examined the charter of the Compost Company on the 5th of June; DEVELIN and HOFFMAN agreed that the company had no power to make such a contract; when the Recorde 's motion was made, there was none or at least but a short discussion; that evening it was stated that it might not be best to give it to the lowest bidder; it was deeme l the duty of the commission to give it to the best man; that question came up, and all agreed to the decision; it wasn't pretended that the lowest bidder should have it if not a fit person; I have a recollection of the votes taken on the question of giving it to the lowest bidder; I know that the Mayor voted aye; I have heard it denied at Albany; I don't know whether the Mayor and Recorder voted together; the Mayor said he wanted a contract made, but whether that was his reason for giving it to BROWN I cannot say; the bids were discussed, until they concluded that BROWN, DEVOE and KNAPP were the best men, and that they should have it; after the discussion, the members of the commission commended the gentlemen associated in the firm, and I thing it was said it would be for the best interests of the city; no one objected to giving it to BROWN & CO. on any ground; the Comptroller suggested that the sureties' property should be real estate; it may have been at the meeting when the contract was executed.

Cross-examined by Judge Allen—The time of contract was fixed at an early meeting after a consultation between Messrs. DEVLIN and HOFFMAN; the matter had been talked over and discussed conversationally, different terms being suggested; there was some difference of opinion between the Recorder and DEVELIN, the latter contending that the power of the Commission was unlimited; it was considered economy to the city to give the contractor's ten years; Judge WHITING did not come into the room and speak about the Compost Company; the Recorder and DEVELIN spoke about the more formal matters, and the phraseology of the contract and its inforcement, the liability of the sureties and the default of the contractors; they had no more to do with it than any one else; I don't recollect any other letters than those mentioned here, except one which the Mayor had; it was handed to Mr. DEVELIN; I don't remember the suggestion, nor do I know whether it was adopted; the specifications were discussed in detail, and finally adopted without dissent; it was said that the contract being onerous upon the contractors, would be disastrous to the city.

Cross-examined by Mr. Graham—I made memoranda on pieces of paper, and posted them in a book subsequently; I sometimes expanded and sometimes struck out; I wrote out the doings of the meetings when it was fresh in my mind; I put down not conversation but acts; Mr. BOOLE opposed the contract system uniformly; the Mayor made the announcement on the 6th of June; he was not there on the 12th of June; I do not know that he kept out of the way for the purpose of saddling the contract on the other commissioners; the meeting took place at 1, continuing until 4 at the Mayor's outer office; he had been there, but went away before the meeting; he did not return; he never said he wanted to dodge the meeting; he said he didn't want to be there on the 13th; he said he was sorry he had made the contract, or had anything to do with it; I remember that BOOLE said KINGSLEY lived in Brooklyn; he said he was opposed to the contract, and he was in favor of the highest bidder; the members of the commission were not called by name; I do not remember that BOOLE refused to vote until the Mayor voted; nor that the Mayor said he was going to vote aye; specifications were changed from time to time after the contract was advertised; they were not then ready; WHITING'S name was on three bids as surety; I read the act of the Compost Company's incorporation; Mr. WHITING is trustee; I think some of his suggestions were adopted; I did not furnish material for the charges; the Mayor did not speak on the duration of the term; Mr. DEVLIN and the Recorder took the greater part in the discussion; the Mayor did not speak; the question of security was discussed by the Recorder, who finally proposed $250,000; Mr. DEVLIN opposed him; I think the Comptroller also opposed it; Mr. BOOLE said he was glad to be relieved of the responsibility; he was decidedly opposed to the contract; the Mayor assented to the view that the contract was too onerous as at first specified; he considered them injurious to the public; I don't remember that he said anything on the subject.

Re-direct by Judge Emmet—There was no discussion about BROWN, DEVOE and KNAPP until after it was determined that they should have the contract, the others being out of the way; there was something said about KINGSLEY, DEDAY and another, but it was during the reading of the list of bidders and not when the motion was made about the lowest bidder.

Gov. Fenton—It is now 5 o'clock; the witness is evidently fatigued and I will adjourn the investigation. We will meet again to-morrow at this place at 10 o'clock in the morning.

The Governor then rose, and, accompanied by Gen. HARVEY, left the chamber, followed by the crowd which had ere this became great and fearfully heated.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

AMERICAN INSTITUTE FAIR.

Trouble with the Exhibitors—Billiard Matches and a Pleasant Time.

The attendance at the fair yesterday was very large—larger, in fact, than on any previous day. This was partly owing to the beautiful weather, but mainly to the fact that Prof. CARME, the great French player, with Messrs. PHELAN, MCDEVITT and others were announced to play on one of PHELAN'S tables.

Some little trouble was had with one of the exhibitors who placed a somewhat conspicuous placard above a press on which was printed a little paper filled with his advertisements. The managers objected, but he was stubborn, and finally the exhibitor was virtually ejected and his advertisement stopped. What will be the end we cannot say, for the exhibitor has money and pluck, while the managers have possession.

Conformably with the announcements made by the managers of the American Institute Fair, now being held in this city, Monsieur PIERRE CARME, assisted by Messrs. MICHAEL PHELAN and EDWARD CAHILL, of New-York, and JOHN MCDEVITT, of Indianapolis, yesterday afternoon and evening, gave expositions of the beauties of billiards upon the elegant table from the manufactory of Messrs. PHELAN & COLLENDER, now on exhibition at the rooms of this Fair. In the afternoon the opening game was between Messrs. CAHILL and MCDEVITT, and resulted in favor of the latter by a score of 500 to 261. The principal runs of the loser were 106 and 64, while those of the winner, who made the excellent average of 27, were 180 and 124. A French game of 100 points followed, the competitors being Messrs. CARME and PHELAN. The former, whose playing was particularly admired and applauded, made runs of 96, 12, 12, etc., and won the game by a liberal margin. At its conclusion, and as the finis of the entertainment, Mons. CARME executed a variety of the most difficult and attractive strokes known to billiards. It is needless to say that the ease and accuracy of his playing invoked marked commendation.

The evening seance, which was very numerously attended, was initiated by the same players who had opened that in the afternoon—Messrs. CAHILL and MCDEVITT; and the latter, making runs of 76, 82, 146 and 230, again exhibited that remarkable delicacy of touch and thorough command of the balls which have gained for him a fixed reputation. His total score was 611, and his average 52. Cahill scored but 223, notwithstanding he made the large run of 142. In the French game which followed CARME, whose largest run was 16, against 14 made by PHELAN, scored 100 points to the latter's 61.

The fair will be visited to-day by Hon. D. P. HALLOWAY, Commissioner of Patents, and other scientific gentlemen from Washington. It will be highly interesting to them to see many inventions in life-size which were not allowed to occupy over one cubic foot when sent to the patent office.

Presentation of Complimentary Resolutions.

At a meeting yesterday evening of the Sixth Company of the Seventh Regiment, (National Guard,) the members of the company presented to their late Captain, E. O. BIRD, a complimentary set of resolutions, splendidly engrossed and framed. The occasion was a peculiarly happy one. Mr. HENRY H. MORANGE, in presenting the memorial, spoke feelingly of the regret which every member of the company felt at the resignation of their beloved commanding officer, and tendered in behalf of himself and comrades best wishes for his happiness and prosperity.

Capt. BIRD returned thanks in a few remarks, during which he strove to impress upon his comrades of "Company C," the necessity of strict observance of discipline and constant attention to duty. The party then broke up highly pleased at the evening's proceedings.

Fire in South-street.

SIXTEEN FAMILIES TURNED OUT AT MIDNIGHT.

Between 12 and 1 o'clock this morning, the large five-story building on the northwest corner of Oliver and South streets, which was occupied by Mr. JACOB LAMBERT as a liquor-store, and by sixteen families as a dwelling, was destroyed by fire, of probably, incendiary origin. The flames were first discovered in the rear of Mr. LAMBERT'S liquor-store, between 11 and 12 o'clock, and before the bells struck they had enveloped the stair-case leading to the upper stories, and thus cut off the tenants' means of egress. Happily, however, the occupants of the building preserved their presence of mind, and without attempting to save any of their effects, all fled to the roof, and thence escaped on the roofs of adjoining buildings.

The four upper stories of the building were occupied by sixteen families, whose names are Ward, Green, Murphy, McGonigle, Kiley, Miller, Daly, Conly, (two families,) Constantine, Brown, and five German families, whose names the reporter did not ascertain. All these escaped without accident, but lost everything except the garments which were on their persons at the time of the first alarm. Their loss is roughly estimated at $5,000. The building, which stood about 75 feet on Oliver-street by 25 on South, was valued at about $10,000 and insured, but in what office does not appear.

The Ocean House, No. 196 Water-street, occupied by Mr. CHAS. BRANDES, was at one time threatened, but the firemen saved all but the roof. The building and contents were damaged to some extent by water. Fire-Marshal BAKER will institute an investigation.

RETURN OF THE HENRY CHAUNCY.

The new steamer Henry Chauncy, Capt. GRAY, arrived at her dock yesterday morning at 1 o'clock, having been out on a trial trip along the Eastern Coast as far as Portsmouth, N. H. She left here on last Thursday afternoon, and carried out only a few of the directors of the company. The trip was pleasant in every respect, and the vessel proved herself all that might be expected of her. She will be put on the line between this port and Aspinwall. She is one of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company's new fleet.

MISCELLANEOUS.

The schoolship Sabine, Commander R. B. LONEY, has arrived here, and during her short stay will enlist apprentice boys for the navy. A number of good petty officers, coopers, tailors, a barber, and other artizans will be shipped if they have seen service during the war. The petty officers are wanted for instructors for the boys, and must be of good character.

The Engineers' Association of New-York went on their annual clam-bake to Sands Point yesterday. All of the machine shops in the country were represented. They had a clamerous time.

The Baptist Home Mission Society.

The following resolution was passed by the Executive Board of the American Baptist Home Mission Society, at its meeting held Sept. 27, 1865:

Resolved, That the Board of the American Baptist Home Mission Society do sincerely desire, and will fraternally welcome, the coöperation of their Baptist brethren in the Southern States in the glorious work of publishing the Gospel in all its fullness of doctrine, precept, and practice, throughout the land, and in all Christian efforts to enlighten and Christianize every creature.

THOS. D. ANDERSON,
Chairman of the Executive Board.
J. S. BACKUS, Corresponding Secretary.

MR. BRODHEAD'S PAPER ON THE EARLY ECCLESIASTICAL HISTORY OF NEW-YORK—PRESENTATION OF A BUST OF WASHINGTON IRVING.

The first regular Fall meeting of the New-York Historical Society was held last evening at their Library. The attendance was quite large, and the proceedings were viewed with deep attention. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

The battle-flag of the First New-York Dragoons was donated to the Society by Mrs. LAURA WOLCOT GIBBS in a letter stating that the banner had been carried through forty-six battles. The flag was warmly applauded by the audience. The President, Mr. DE PEYSTER made a few eloquent remarks on the reception of the flag. The usual reports were made, and several interesting letters and memoranda were read by the several Secretaries and Librarian.

Mr. J. ROMAINE BRODHEAD, the distinguished historian, then came forward, and in some extended remarks, communicated to the society some notices of the early ecclesiastical history of New-York, with extracts from the correspondence of the clergy with the Classis of Amsterdam.

He gave a graphic account of the early establishment of the old Dutch Church in the Colony of New Amsterdam, and an entertaining description of the difficulties attending the treaties made between the authorities and the British Government, in regard to the religious liberties of the colonists, and in this connection gave a slight sketch of the ministers laboring in both the English and Dutch Churches, during those early days. In speaking of these men Mr. BRODHEAD exposed several glaring errors in Smith's History of New-York. In his description of the many clashings of authority among the clergymen of the rival churches, Mr. BRODHEAD spoke of the fact that the Classis of Amsterdam donated the original correspondence of the ministers of the old Dutch Church in America, and he stated that from that correspondence many important historical documents had been discovered, for a long time mourned as lost, and the speaker read extracts from several of those documents, giving a minute description of the workings of the early church of New-York. In conclusion, Mr. BRODHEAD gave a brief biographical sketch of VAN RENSSELAER, the ancestor of so many of our citizens.

At the conclusion of Mr. BRODHEAD'S remarks, a vote of thanks was tendered to him by the society. Ex-Judge KIRKLAND read a letter from Mrs. ANNA P. E. KIRKLAND, presenting to the society a bust of WASHINGTON IRVING, by PALMER, as a token of her regard for the society of which her distinguished husband had been so prominent a member. The Judge uttered some feeling remarks on the beauty and appropriateness of so noble a gift. The bust, (which is one of the finest of the kind,) was received with delight and surprise by the audience present.

Mr. JAMES N. GIRAUD, on moving that the bust be accepted and the matter of returning thanks be referred to the Executive Committee, took occasion to speak of the warm esteem in which the society holds the memory of IRVING, and to pay a tribute to the fame of the sculptor whose chisel executed the work.

After the transaction of some further business, the society adjourned to the refectory, where they and their friends partook of refreshments.
